Dear Dr Kühne

Your paper "The quest for historical elements in Plato's Critias" has now been seen by our referees. On their recommendation we shall not be accepting it for publication in ANTIQUITY.

They feel that it makes no significant contribution to the debate on this subject. It has, moreover, been overtaken by the publication earlier this year of Eberhard Zangger's The Flood from Heaven (the German edition of which has just appeared under the title Atlantis: eine Legende wird entziffert). This covers much of the same ground as your paper, but in considerably greater detail, and takes account of more modern work than you have consulted.

Yours sincerely

Henry Cleere
